Corruption and its Impact on Human Rights in India

The talk will outline the problem of corruption in India, which has affected all institutions of Indian democracy leading to a crisis in governance. It will discuss the significance of corruption in India, the approaches adopted and the measures initiated by the government in responding to the crisis. The talk will critically examine some of the recent developments, including legislative, judicial, institutional and civil society initiatives in the fight against corruption. The relationship between elimination corruption to promote good governance, establishing a society based on the rule of law and the protection and promotion of human rights will be discussed.
