Professor Kumah,

I write to extend sincere thanks and appreciation to you and your enviable Global University Family for hosting us at your Institution on March 22, 2013, during our visit to your country.

We feel greatly humbled and honored for the special opportunity to address the Distinguished Jindal Global Lecture and, even more fondly, to interact with your students who so convincingly presented to be as adept in the topic under discussion as they were alert on global development events.

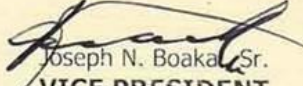

We warmly embrace your hospitality as exemplified by the abundance of courtesies accorded us and your generosity as shown in your affirmative response to our overtures for the establishment and expansion of mutually rewarding linkages between your University and key actors in the higher education arena in Liberia.

We left your splendid Campus filled with the hope that this visit has ignited a flame of cooperation and collaboration bearing enormous benefits that will go to quenching the thirst of our young people for knowledge, particularly in critical disciplines as Law, Business, International Affairs as well as Government and Public Policy.

Kindly convey to the students our deep appreciation for their intellectually stimulating interventions during the lecture—contributions that engendered such admirable degree of candor and open-mindedness.

Please have Mr. Vice Chancellor, assurances of our highest consideration.

Sincerely yours,

Joseph N. Boakai Sr.
VICE PRESIDENT
